

Omar A. Williams

Judge Williams grew up in Norwalk, Connecticut and graduated from Norwalk High School. He obtained his B.A. from UConn and his J.D. from the University of Connecticut School of Law, where he was Editor-in-Chief of the Connecticut Public Interest Law Journal and Vice President of the Black Law Students' Association. After law school, Omar was an attorney for the Office of Public Defender Services, having served at GA23 in New Haven before being nominated by Governor Malloy to become a Judge of the Superior Court. Since his appointment to the bench in 2014, he has been assigned to hear criminal and housing matters at GA10 in New London.